

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

They tell me that a man hasn't lived unless he has been a thousand miles from home and broke, depending upon his wife to save him from starvation.

Maybe we haven't "lived" but just the same we've enjoyed it.

The army is conducting experiments now that will produce a rifle that will replace the famous old Springfield. The new model gun, which is now being studied, will be a semi automatic machine rifle.

This gun will weigh the same as the present model Springfield, but will increase the firing strength of an infantry or cavalry unit to a large degree.

The army is also experimenting with a .50 calibre machine gun, which may be used against tanks or aircraft. If any of you know how big a .45 calibre slug is, you can easily picture how big a .50 calibre shell would be.

Motorization of infantry units is also being studied by the authorities. Already one infantry regiment has been completely motorized and so they tell us, have proved themselves a capable outfit.

The army is changing rapidly. I doubt whether some of you men who shouldered a rifle, slung your steel helmet at a killing slant, and trudged through the mud in France would be able to go through some of the latest maneuvers.

Even the school of the soldier and the squad have changed; your close order drill isn't what it used to be and combat tactics have been changed considerably.

But come new tactics, go old tactics, the old army songs still linger on.

THREE FOUND DEAD IN PLANE WRECK

COWPUNCHER FINDS LOST PLANE

LEBEC, Nov. 19.—UP—The snarled wreckage of a Pacific Air Transport Mail plane that crashed into a mountain side in a blizzard was found late today, its three occupants killed by the impact.

Ed Newson, an old cowpuncher, found the wreckage in the snow, seven miles northeast of Antelope emergency airport, and ended a search that had called out 40 airplanes and 280 men for more than 36 hours.

In the open cockpit was the body of Flavius Donaldson pilot. Thrown from the cabin ahead, the bodies of George Rogers, mechanic and Miss Jean Markou, passenger, lay a few feet from the wreckage.

The plane, which crashed while enroute from Los Angeles to Oakland early Tuesday, last reported by radio when Donaldson advised that he could not gain altitude in the snow and rain over the Tehachapi mountains, near Lebec. He said he might turn back.

Apparently he decided to try to reach the Antelope emergency field which is 16 miles east of Lebec, or go to Bakersfield.

At an elevation of 4500 feet the plane struck the side of a hill. At the time he was 7 miles from the Antelope field and once over the hill the plane could have dropped down to Bakersfield.

Pilots agreed that Donaldson was aware that the hill was in the vicinity, but was blinded by the snow and rain.

For two days, searching planes had flown over the spot where the wreckage was found. However, snow apparently had fallen after the crash, concealing the debris.

Wreck Found

It remained for a ground searcher to end the hunt. Newson, who is employed on the Los Alamos ranch, was one of the many ranchers who aided in the hunt. He probably will receive the $1000 reward offered for finding the airplane.

Newcom found the plane, made a hasty inspection and returned to the airport. Officials of the air line accompanied him to the scene of the wreckage.

While the plane was badly wrecked and the three occupants had been killed instantly by the great force of the crash, there had been no fire. The mail was intact. Post-office officials inspected the wreckage before anything was touched.

The bodies were taken to the airport later.

Miss Markou, the passenger, was enroute to Portland, Ore., on a birthday trip arranged by her mother, Mrs. L. M. Smith.

Fruit Group Is Defended In Talk

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—UP—Confidence that products of Fruit Industry, Ltd., will bring profit to fruit growers of California despite the rumored opposition of eastern gangsters was expressed here tonight by Donald D. Conn, managing director of the company.

So far as its concentrated grape juice is concerned, Fruit Industries, Ltd., will take the juice from the vineyards to the home through one of the most responsible agencies which can be employed; namely, the corner drug store, Conn said.

"We have no competition. We have no interest in racketeering, or what other people or interests are doing or may do. We think we have a solution of the grape problem of this state and it is our purpose to market our products only through approved legal channels."

Conn said his attention had been called to "newspaper comment with reference to an alleged conference between certain minority interests in the grape industry and representatives of bootleggers and racketeers, looking to the sale of grapes and grape juice."

He did not refer directly to a rumor that Al Capone, Chicago gang leader, had issued orders to prevent sale of the grape concentrates in Chicago, which has not been verified.

"Fruit Industries, Ltd., is not interested in bootleggers, racketeers, or anything of that nature," Conn said.

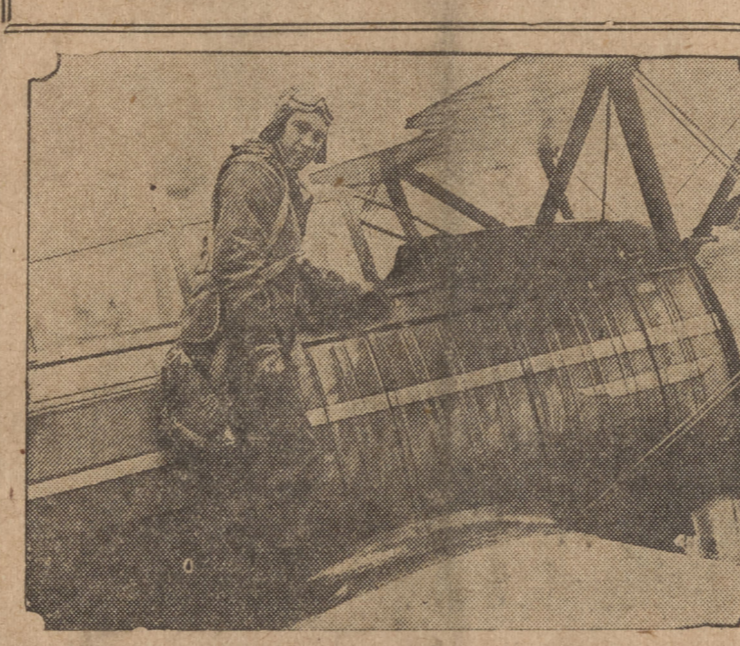

"It was organized a year ago by California Vineyardists association for the purpose of affording a centralized legal control over the disposition of the California grape surplus, Fruit Industries, Ltd., is owned by the grape growers, it secures its financing from government and commercial sources and its collateral is as good as that of any other industry."

SHIP REPORT MADE BY SCOTT

Following is the report of W. W. Scott, chairman of the traffic committee of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, presented at last night's annual meeting of the membership:

"This year we are witnessing the fulfillment of our plans launched some five years ago by which we have hoped to make Richmond a world port. Richmond is now recognized by all the coastwise, intercoastal-gulf and intercoastal Atlantic shipping companies on business moving from Richmond on an absolute equality the rates named from Oakland, Alameda and San Francisco.

Shipments from Richmond are now moved on an equality with the ports of Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Astoria and those on San Francisco bay as well as with the port of Los Angeles. There are four lines operating regularly between this port and the ports of Astoria, Portland, Vancouver and Langview, with ten sailings per week; and there are four lines operating between Richmond and the Puget Sound ports of Seattle, Tacoma, Bellingham, Anacortes and Port Angeles, with 11 sailings per week. There are five lines operating regularly between Richmond and southern California ports including San Pedro, Wilmington and San Diego, with 16 sailings per week.

"The lines engaged in the coastwise service are the McCormack company, Pacific lines, Nelson lines, Christensen-Hammond and Los Angeles and San Francisco Navigation company. Lines handling cargo to the intercoastal gulf ports are the Luckenbach, Gulf Pacific and the Redwood line.

Lines carrying cargo to the Atlantic include American, Hawaiian, Luckenbach, Williams, Nelson, Diamond, Quaker, Panama Pacific, Pacific Mail, Isthmian and Argonaut line.

"This phenomenal steamship service that is assured to Richmond is of great value to the community. It adds value to the industrial, commercial and residential property. It places industrial plants in position to ship their finished products to all ports at no greater cost than if their plants were located on more expensive land in San Francisco, Oakland or Alameda.

"We are endeavoring to solve the traffic problems that are submitted to the Chamber of Commerce and we feel that this year has been one of glorious victory for our committee and the Chamber of Commerce. Too much credit cannot be given to President P. M. Sanford and the board of directors for the cooperation that has been accorded throughout the year."

P. M. SANFORD IN REPORT AT C. C. MEETING

Following is the report of P. M. Sanford, president of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, made at the annual meeting last night:

In submitting the report of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce for the year 1930 we are very pleased to say that we have seen the completion of the program of development that was laid out by the Chamber of Commerce and our city council four or five years ago.

The development included the opening and dredging of our harbor for commerce, the filling of tide and low lands, making ready for industrial construction; the building of railroads to serve the waterfront and these industrial lands; also the building of streets and sewers and general public improvements. With the cooperation of the city council and our state and federal governments, and the cooperation of the railroads this task has been practically completed. To those of you who have not kept in close touch or have not made personal observation I want to make clear to you what this development has meant.

"With the work that has already been completed and that which is going on at the present time, our inner harbor we will have acquired 14,000 feet of waterfrontage and an approximate acreage of 600 for industrial lands. We have completed the building of a wharf and warehouse 900 feet long, 150 feet wide, which is served by both the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads and by practically every steamship line coming into San Francisco bay.

"We have also widened the building of the Police and relief cannery on these filled lands, adjacent to our wharf and warehouse at a cost of $35,000; also the beginning of construction on the Ford company's $5,000,000 assembling plant, the bulkheading and dredging of the Ellis Slough by the Santa Fe railroad company and other private individuals at an approximate cost of $400,000, the bulkheading and dredging by the Berkeley Waterfront company with present initial expenditure of $400,000, thus reclaiming 215 acres of land for industrial purposes with a waterfrontage of over 6,000 feet.

"With these projects enumerated, with the tremendous expenditure of money thus far, and the future plans of development by these various companies, added to our present industrial output of over $145,000,000, can we not justly take pride in the enterprise of our people, their fine cooperative spirit, that has made Richmond the bright spot on the Pacific coast, particularly during these times of depression."

The young congressman-elect told of his tour yesterday of the Richmond waterfront, and how years before he had stood on the same ground and heard far-sighted local men look forward to the dream of developing an inner harbor.

Reports from Madrid indicated the capital was quiet, although arrests of communists and labor agitators continued. The government was reported to fear the communists would seek to gain support of extreme Republicans in a movement against the administration.

RINGER OUSTED FROM TROJAN TEAM

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—UP.—George Kirkwood, substitute halfback on the University of Southern California football team, was expelled from school today on a charge of having gained admission with forged credentials. It was announced tonight.

University authorities said that Kirkwood had admitted at S. A. M. today, after hours of questioning, that his entrance papers were spurious. He entered from Sumner, Wash.

Kirkwood's real name was said to be Perverse.

The matter came to the attention of U. S. C. authorities they said, when a man wearing a University of California ring appeared and gave them a tip, but would not reveal his identity.

"We have made an honest effort to clear up this matter and I believe that in expelling Kirkwood we have taken the only step we could with honesty," said Bill Hunter, athletic director.

He added that there probably would be a renewed burst of unfavorable publicity. Only yesterday a discussion fostered by the University of California student paper ended. The paper said editorially that U. S. C. was subsidizing athletes. This was in support of a statement by Fritz Cahn, California tackle, that California was "beaten by the best professional team in the country" when it lost to U. S. C., 74 to 0.

Kirkwood was being groomed to replace gaps which will be left in the U. S. C. backfield next year.

CAGE LEAGUE TO RESUME PLAY TONIGHT

The Santa Fe eagles will tonight have their chance to go into a tie for first place with McRacken's and the Old Fellows when they tangle with the fast although as yet unvictorious Studebakers.

The B contest will be provided by the Civic Center Tires and the Mastercraft Roofers.

Both the Santa Fe athletes have shown sensational offensive power in this year's city league competition, and should present another nice exhibition of fine basketball this evening. However, the Studebakers, although still shut out of the winning column, have lost only by very slim margins, and expected to meet the Santa Fe outfit on an even basis tonight in the Roosevelt gymnasium.

The Civic Center Tires and the Mastercraft Roofers have been battling away in the B division this year on an exceptionally even footing, and tonight's game ought to give local fans a taste of excitement. The B division has this year provided more exciting, close competition than ever before in the history of the local city league.

ANTIOCH BREAKS WITH PITTS HIGH

MARTINEZ, Nov. 19.—Antioch High school, broke athletic relations with Pittsburg high today after a conference of C. I. F. officials in Berkeley last night ruled Parson Ramalla, star player of the latter school's team ineligible.

In the announcement of the break Roger Phelps, principal of Antioch charged Pittsburg with "deliberately inflicting injuries." The above was presumed to mean players of Pittsburg team caused bodily hurt to boys of the Antioch squad in their recent grid game.

Alhambra high school of this city involved with Antioch in a complaint regarding the eligibility of Ramalla, had not taken action on the matter of a break. It was stated at the school today that "there is only one thing left to do" but the official making the announcement did not state what that one thing would be.

Evidence was produced at the Berkeley meeting which showed Ramalla to be in the neighborhood of 21, but no official conclusion was reached to prove that he had passed that age. Ramalla was held out of the Pittsburg-Alhambra high game when protest was registered with the C. I. F. regarding his age. The former team won the game, and the county football title.

Statement made last night indicated Ramalla was born in the Hawaiian Islands Feb. 10, 1910. Evidence was also produced to show that Ramalla registered his birth as Sept. 1923 and it was explained that he did that when he believed he could not be accepted into the school if he was younger than that age.

A sister of the lad who passed away last year is reported to have said the boy was born Feb. 10, 1910. No living relatives are in the vicinity to verify the belief.

NEW LICENSES DEATH TOLL IN BIG FLOOD GROWS

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—Applications by mail for 1931 motor vehicle license plates will be accepted on and after December 1, P. G. Snook, chief of the Division of Motor Vehicle, announced today.

Upon that date, Snook said, the machinery of the division will be perfected to receive the applications and fees of the more than 2,000,000 California motorists who must have new plates on their vehicles before January 15.

Applications should be mailed directly to the division's main office at Sacramento.

Counter delivery of plates will begin on December 15.

Snook advised motorists of the state to use the mail order method as this is simpler, easier, and avoids the necessity of a special trip and standing in line.

The procedure to obtain new plates by mail is to enclose a white certificate of registration and the fee in an envelope and mail both to Sacramento. No other application is required.

If the applicant has moved during the year, the new address should be written in legible on the face of the certificate as the plates are mailed to the address appearing thereon.

Certified checks, money orders and bank drafts will be accepted in payment of the license fee. Currency should not be sent.

The fee for renewal for all pleasure cars and others weighing less than 3000 pounds is $3. The single exception is electric cars which pay a fee of $13.

Commercial cars such as trucks, etc., pay the regular fee of $3 and a graduated fee in addition depending upon the weight. These fees are exactly the same as last year.

If the certificate of registration has been sent, the motorist should make application immediately for a new one, remitting the legal fee of fifty cents.

If the motorist has completed payments on the car during the year and has received the certificate of ownership he should send both the certificate of registration and certificate of ownership and $1 extra for release of legal ownership. A new certificate of ownership will then be mailed the legal owner.

Snook urged motorists to lose no time in filing applications, "as much as it will be illegal to drive a car within a short time unless evidence can be shown that the motorist has applied for new plates."

Plates for 1931 are exactly the same as this year except that the colors are reversed, orange lettering being on a black background. Dashes between letters and numerals will be eliminated. The size and shape are unchanged.

Loughran Given Odds To Win Fridays Fight

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—UP.—Tommy Loughran's impressive training performances have made him a 2 to 1 favorite to defeat King Levinsky in their 16-round bout at Chicago stadium Friday.

Loughran, retired undefeated light heavyweight champion today denied reports he would ask the Illinois athletic commission to take special care in the selection of officials for the bout.

"I don't know whether the Slattery-Levinsky decision was a gift to Levinsky or not," Loughran said. "But I've always found officials anxious to be fair. If they do make a mistake it usually is an honest one and I see no reason to ask the commission for 'protection'."

In the invitation sent St. Mary's officials, William O. Hunter, director of athletics, pointed out that it was against the U. S. C. policy to play next season games, but that in view of the "extremity of circumstances," brought to attention by civic and relief organizations, the school believed it fitting to stage such a game.

Army Football Player Dropped

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 19.—UP.—Cadet Cyril J. Letzelter, star halfback on Army's football team, has been dropped from all athletic activities at the United States Military Academy, it was announced here tonight by Col. Walter K. Wilson, executive officer of the academy.

Cadet Letzelter's name is being taken from the football list because he was over the age limit when he entered the academy, the announcement said.

WEED WAR AT U. C. FARM

DAVIS, Nov. 18.—After two years of preliminary effort, the campaign against weeds at the University of California farm here will be pushed during the coming year with renewed energy. Dr. W. W. Robinson, of the botany division, and Henry Sevier, farm superintendent in charge of the campaign, are outlining plans for control that they hope will make the farm free of weeds within a few years.

A power sprayer is to be purchased and will be used wherever sprays can be applied without injury to growing crops. Fence rows, corners and other similar places are well cleaned up now, through the use of oil and chlorate sprays.

With the power sprayer available, it is hoped that the cleanup work will be made much more thorough. Cultivation practices are to be made more effective, too, it is planned.

The war against weeds was started two years ago when Dr. W. L. Howard, director of the branch of the College of Agriculture here, appointed Dr. Robinson and Sevier to take charge of the weed control plans in an effort to make the university farm a model as regards foul growths in fields and orchards.

Rat Study Is Made At U. C.

BERKELEY, Nov. 13.—Rats with dark or pigmented eyes so farther than the pink-eyed variety either in the light or in the dark.

This fact was discovered in the course of an experiment in the department of psychology at the University of California by two graduate students, Esther W. Robinson and E. G. Weber. The results of the experiment have just been published by the University Press in a pamphlet entitled "Vision: Distance Perception in the Rat."

The two students used fifteen rats in their experiments, eight gray or pied rats with pigmented (dark) eyes, and seven white rats with pink eyes. Distance of vision was determined by running the rats through a maze which offered a choice of two passageways to the daily food ration. At the end of each of these straight passageways was a closed door. The rats would run to the end of one passageway, find it closed, and turn back. While they were investigating the closed door the other door would be opened and on their return they could reach the food without further difficulty.

Strikers Fire On Loaded Street Car

SEVILLE, Spain, Nov. 20.—UP.—Panic spread in Seville last night when rioting strikers opened fire on two street cars, one crowded with passengers. The passengers threw themselves on the floor of the car. Civil guards rushed up and repelled the strikers. Two were slightly wounded in the clash.

SAINTS INVITED TO PLAY U. S. C. DECEMBER 20

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—UP.—The University of Southern California has invited St. Mary's to play in a charity football game here on December 20, it was announced tonight.

The game should draw a huge crowd, inasmuch as U. S. C. often has been criticized for not putting St. Mary's on its regular schedule. The decision to play was made by the U. S. C. players, to whom the matter was left at an assembly.

In the invitation sent St. Mary's officials, William O. Hunter, director of athletics, pointed out that it was against the U. S. C. policy to play next season games, but that in view of the "extremity of circumstances," brought to attention by civic and relief organizations, the school believed it fitting to stage such a game.

The invitation concluded with the statement that this game, of course, will not mark the establishment of a precedent for such contests in the future.

It was believed here that St. Mary's would accept immediately.

ST. MARY'S SENDS WIRE OF THANKS

MORAGA, Nov. 19.—UP.—A message of appreciation for the invitation from the University of Southern California to St. Mary's for a charity football game which would be played in Los Angeles, Dec. 20 was sent to Willis Hunter, athletic director of U. S. C. by L. F. Lefevre, graduate manager of the local school.

"Many thanks for your invitation," Lefevre telegraphed. "Assure you that the board of athletic control will give invitation earnest consideration. Mr. Madigan does not return until Friday, and if possible I would like time to confer with him before answering. If this arrangement is satisfactory, kindly wire me."

Lefevre said that while there has been considerable comment in San Francisco about the possibility of St. Mary's playing a post-season game for charity there, no such suggestion had been made directly to St. Mary's. Therefore, he explained, U. S. C.'s invitation is the first received by him.

HOOVER TELLS OF CHILD WELFARE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—UP.—An army of 10,000,000 deficient children of America is being neglected, providing a major recruiting ground for ne'er-do-wells and criminals, President Hoover warned the nation tonight.

Hoover cited this challenge of American childhood in addressing the opening session of the White House conference on child health and protection, assembled after a year of study at his suggestion.

He accompanied this warning with a three-fold charge of responsibility for the conference and the nation in building in its children the future leadership of the country.

Problems Told
"Our problem falls into three groups: First, the protection and stimulation of the normal child; second, aid to the physically defective and handicapped children; third, the problems of the delinquent child," Hoover said.

He said the conference, through direction of Secretary of Interior Wilbur and 1200 child life experts, had obtained material on which to base "judgements of unprecedented service in behalf of childhood, the benefits of which will be felt for a full generation."

While the president recognized America has much on the bright side of the picture, "enjoying a larger proportion of happy, normal children than any other country in the world," he warned of the changing complexities of modern life and of the new demands of citizenship, vocations and productive tasks.

Purpose Told
"We have produced a complexity of life for which there is no precedence. Drastic changes in the modern home greatly affect the child. Our children must be prepared to meet new contracts and new forces. These problems reach the very root of our national life."

"The passion of American fathers and mothers is to lift children to higher opportunities than they themselves enjoy. It burns like a flame in us as a people. Indeed human progress marches only when children excel their parents."

"The fundamental purpose of this conference is to set forth an understanding of those safeguards and services to childhood which can be provided by the community, the state, or the nation—all of which are beyond the reach of the individual parent," the president informed the delegates.

"We approach these problems in no spirit of diminishing the responsibilities or invading the sanctities of those primary safeguards to child life—their homes and their mothers."

Vital aspects of the task were seen by the president in figures revealing 10,000,000 deficient children among the 45,000,000 young.

"If we do not perform our duties to these children, we leave them dependent, or we provide from them the major recruiting ground for the army of ne'er-do-wells and criminals."

CREW RESCUED FROM SINKING VESSEL

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—UP—Distress signals, piercing a gale-ridden night from the wallowing Swedish freighter Ovidia, turned three ships from their courses.

The fleet Mauritania, once wearied of the mythical blue speed pennant on the Atlantic, pounded its way through surging seas to be the first at the side of the freighter, stricken at a point some 300 miles south of Cape Race. The 28 officers and men of the Ovidia then were rescued by the Cunarder after having gone over the side in their boats.

Second in the race but on time if its efforts be needed was the United States liner America, on whose bridge stood the gallant captain George Fried, already the hero of two maritime rescues. Boiling along in the rear was the shipping board freighter Endicott, offering a tow but unable to arrange it because the Ovidia was so badly listing.

The Ovidia, built in 1922 and registered as of 3114 tons, was carrying a cargo of lumber to St. Nazaire, France. On Nov. 11 it sailed from Norfolk, Va., for Cardiff, Wales.

S. O. S. messages, intercepted early today by the Radio Marine corporation, gave Captain Alex Carlson's version of the vessel's plight:

"In distress and sinking. Cannot seem to raise anyone. Taking water hold No. 2. Heavy list. Trying to keep afloat, but pumps unreliable."

From further advices, relayed by the steamer Duchess of Bedford, it was learned that the call of distress, crackling through the storm, had been heard by the Endicott and the America.

The slow-moving Endicott was believed to be only 60 or 65 miles away from the Ovidia. Its wireless sputtered a promise of aid and then Captain Fried and his America, some 210 miles northeast of the sinking freighter, flashed word that he too had turned about and was proceeding at full speed.

The next message was from Capt. Fried to the officers of his line here, and said:

"Alongside Ovidia, waiting decision to abandon ship. She desires towing by S. S. Endicott, which has not arrived yet. Ovidia listing badly to starboard. Strong northwest wind; rough heavy swell. Mauretania also standing by."

A short time later the America's wireless room spoke again:

"Ovidia crew now leaving ship on own boats. Being picked up by Mauretania."

The Cunarder, silent until now, confirmed the rescue with this report from Captain S. G. S. McNeill, its master:

"Steamship Ovidia abandoned. Sinking condition. Crew now aboard Mauretania. Due at quarantine now at 11 a. m. Friday."

French Planning Faster Cruiser

PARIS, Nov. 19.—UP—French naval experts are planning to build the fastest battleship afloat as part of their building program in 1930-31, the United Press learned today.

The super-dreadnaught, capable of 28 knots, will be France's answer to Germany's "pocket battle ships." It will be 23,000 tons—more than half the 40,000-ton French yearly building program for the coming fiscal year, according to reliable specifications.

It was indicated France subsequently intends to construct three of these 23,000-ton battleships, within the 70,000-ton total limit allowed France under the London naval treaty.

The French warship will be the first laid down by any power since 1925, inasmuch as Britain, the United States and Japan are debarred by treaty from building until 1936. Experts agreed France would complete the three new units before 1936.

SCHOOL TOTS KILLED IN CYCLONE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 19.—UP—A cyclonic wind, leaving death and destruction in its wake struck the village of Bethany near here today.

The death toll tonight stood at 22. More than 100 were injured, many of them seriously. More than 600 persons were left homeless. Fifty business establishments and homes in the path of the cyclone were leveled, most of the casualties were scored when the persons were trapped in stores or buildings.

Relief Started

Relief work, started immediately after the storm struck, tonight was placed in the hands of L. H. Jones, Red Cross officer and Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett, of the Oklahoma National Guard. Three companies of soldiers patrolled the stricken town, under virtual martial law to prevent pillaging and looting of wrecked stores and homes.

The wind, accompanied by torrential rain, struck Bethany, a village of 2000 inhabitants, from the south. Dropping down from the overcast skies, the blast cut its path 300 yards wide through the town. Every building within the storm's scope including the Capell Creek school where four children were killed.

The storm, unequalled in the state for intensity, came without warning. It trapped residents of the town, caught them in their places of business or reached into homes to spread its destruction. Behind were left crushed and maimed victims.

No Warning

"It seemed impossible for any person in the storm's path to escape alive," Mrs. Frank Stockton, an employee of the Bethany Farmers State bank said. "The wind whipped down on the town without warning and we were all caught going about our daily affairs. The wind came out of the south and struck before any of us realized what was about to happen."

"Then buildings started to crash down. Roofs were smashed and walls of buildings caved in. We heard people scream for help. Others ran up the street."

Rain Falls

"A heavy rain struck almost at the instant the wind hit. Everything was drenched. It was all over in an instant. The wind swept on leaving the ruined town."

Crowds of rescue workers, rushed from Oklahoma City, immediately started searching through the ruins for dead and injured. Emergency treatment was given from a hastily organized Red Cross crew of doctors and nurses. The more seriously injured were rushed to Oklahoma City hospitals. Ambulances and private cars, pressed into service, jammed the highway from here to Bethany, bringing in the dead and injured.

Troops Sent

Before Governor W. J. Holloway dispatched troops to Bethany to restore some semblance of order, the scene was one of utmost confusion. Citizens rushed through the streets in an attempt to find their own relatives.

Campagne Creek school standing directly in the path of the storm was crushed like a match-box. Three students, all of them under ten years of age, were killed instantly. Their bodies were recovered late this afternoon.

What Makes a Good Secretary—And Wife

HERE'S an answer newly given to an old question, which interests both girls and young men— To say nothing of the absorbing interest which the topic possesses for the mothers of both groups!

Dr. Edward Lyman Cornell of Northwestern University, in an address to the law students on "How to Choose a Wife," Has just explicitly advised them, one and all, to "marry your secretary."

Unlike the Princeton Freshmen, whose preferential qualities in ideal girls we quoted yesterday in the column, Dr. Cornell does NOT put beauty first—but LAST.

He places health at the top of the list of requirements. For the perfect secretary, who will later become the perfect wife. The dispatch from Chicago which we read failed to include the doctor's eight other specifications. But we can suggest eight qualities equally valuable to a man's feminine first aid, in office or home.

First, to be a good secretary—and a good wife—a girl should possess intelligence. Any female, with the job of taking care of either employer or husband, needs all the brains she has! Second, she should have Loyalty. The willingness to stand by boss or husband through thick and thin, Not to hold against him even his occasional bad tempers and injustices.

Never to criticize him, or gossip about his affairs before others. Third, she must be gifted with a Long Memory. No man's Great Mind, in office or home, ever functions at remembering where to put things, or where things have been put. To say nothing of remembering appointments, telephone messages, personal shopping, family anniversaries, or even to get his hair cut.

Fourth, she must be able always to offer sympathy. To listen sweetly, untrillingly, understandingly when he tells her about how he earned his first dollar, how he landed his biggest contract, how he feels just like a boy. About what the golf pro told him, what his doctor told him, what he told his bootlegger, what he had for lunch. About his past, present, future—and, always, about HIMSELF.

Fifth, she must know how to Dress. Since a man's secretary and his wife are both shop-windows of his prosperity. And must be able to look like a million dollars. Even if they have to do it on $25 a week.

Sixth, she must be equipped with an inexhaustible fund of Cheerfulness. A business man, these days, and a husband ANY day Can pack all the grouches, unpack all the gloom necessary.

What he wants from the nearest Little Woman, is a sunny smile! Seventh, she must be blessed with a Sense of Humor. Not so much for the sake of cheering up the man.

Or even for appreciating his twice-two-hundred-times-told stories—As for cheering up herself. If she can laugh to herself, over his illogicalities, stupidities, absurdities. She will find life far more livable. Than if she takes everything passionately and seriously.

Eighth, she must feel, in all sincerity, an Admiration for her employer—or her husband. Though she may recognize his weaknesses and defects. She must believe him to be, on the whole, a Great Man.

Even if he isn't one, he'll come far nearer to greatness. Than he would if there were no woman with a very real faith in him.

And she herself will be so much happier. Each man may kill the thing he loves. But each woman just naturally idealizes it! Now, then, it seems to us that any man who finds a private secretary with the above qualifications—Plus the health and beauty, stipulated by Dr. Cornell. Any man so lucky assuredly has found the answer. To the question of "how to choose a wife."

The only question remaining is whether such a Perfect Winner of a secretary Will choose her cranky boss as a husband!

PRAYER

God, let there be an After-This! There was a girl I did not kiss When she was ready to kiss, I vow; And I shall never kiss her now Save if a spirit-realm there is. There was a man who lately died Who was unjustly hurt by me; I pray Thee, God, that there may be Some place, some state of equity Where all mistakes are rectified. J. H. WALLIS.

Women Can Be Good Friends

That friendliness, not cattiness, is the truly modern woman's attitude toward members of her sex will be proved anew, next Monday night, when thirty-eight business and professional women's clubs in Manhattan and Brooklyn join in a Friendship Dinner at the clubhouse of the American Woman's Association. The guests of honor will be the "fifty foremost women in the United States," as recently selected in an article for The Evening World by Ida Tarbell.

BUDGET

I've learned to budget all I make. Wisely to pick and choose— So much for bread, so much for cake, So much for clothes and shoes.

But one thing I can't budget yet, No matter what I do: My love in one big column's set— I give it all to you! ESTHER L. SCHWARTZ.

Wife Fans Bully Like a Flapjack. Uses Pancake Turner on Man She Saved From Chair—Headline. The stronger sex.

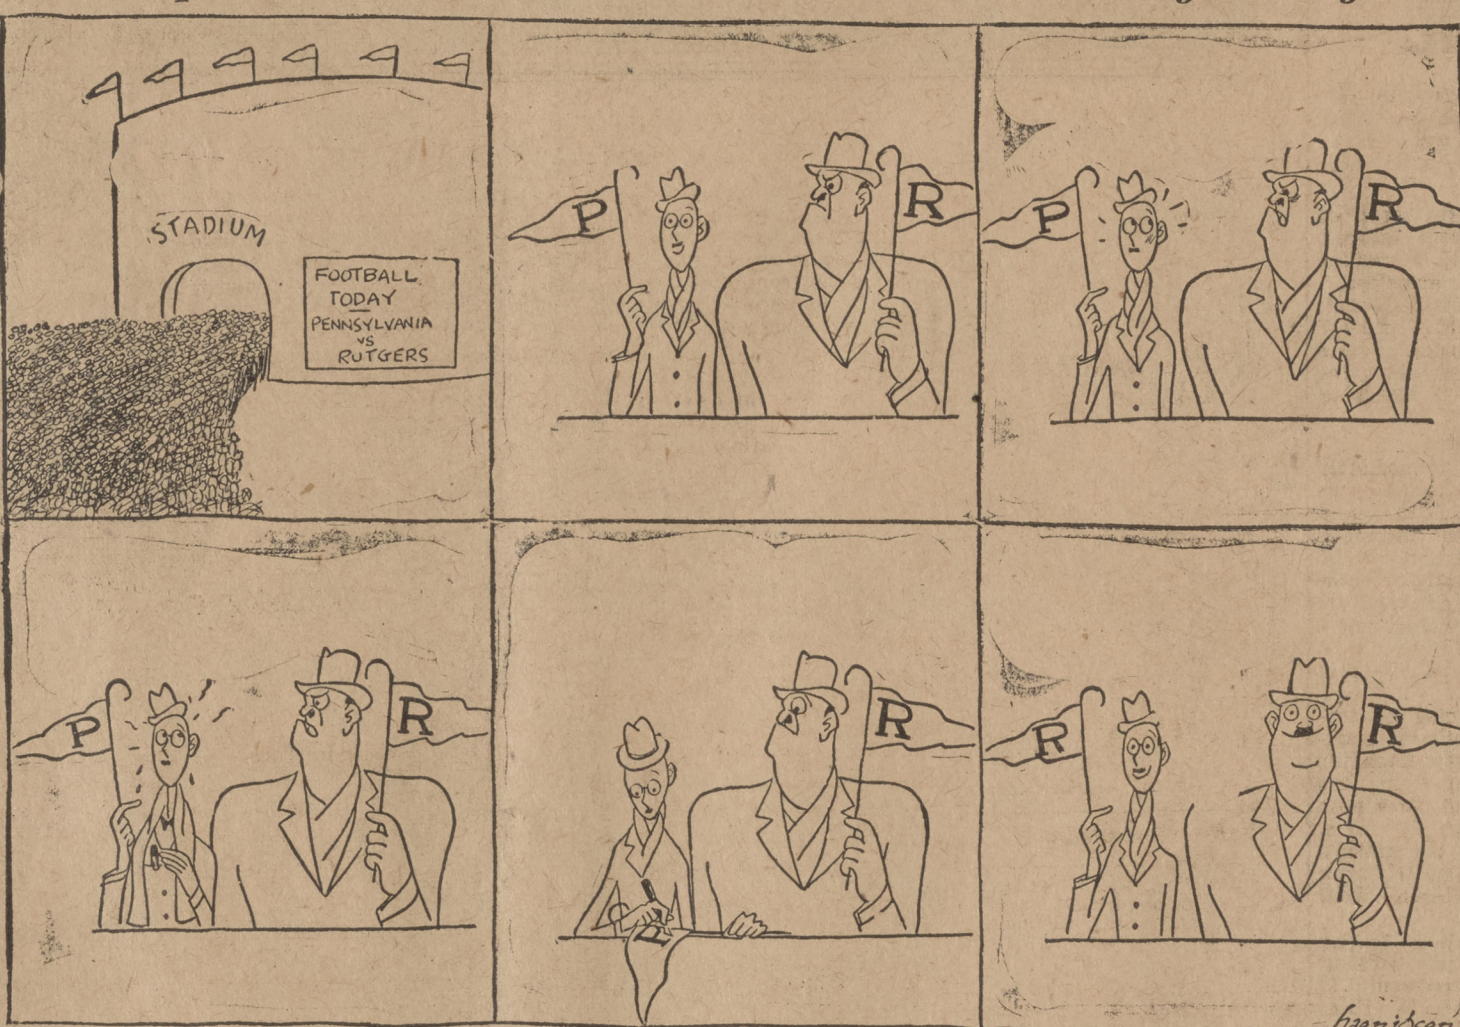

It Is Said—

You can whiten ivory that has become yellow by just dipping half a lemon in salt and rubbing it over the ivory, but be sure and wipe it off at once.

If you add a small amount of soap flakes to the gasoline when cleaning garments you will have better results. The odor of onions or fish can be removed from the frying pan if a little vinegar is poured into the pan while still hot.

A coconut can be easily broken if put into the oven until warm.

Thanksgiving Games

FOR an interesting contest write on sheets of paper, "The Pilgrims arrived on a ship. What other ships were they acquainted with?"

What they met for on Sunday? (Worship.)

What ship was popular with young folks? (Courtship.)

What did it lead up to? (Partnership.)

What feeling existed among them? (Friendship.)

What was one of the young women fond of? (Fellowship.)

What caused them to leave England? (Rulership.)

What was unpleasant for them? (Hardship.)

What interfered with their peace? (Leadership.)

What would have aided them? (Airship.)

The answers (given in parentheses above), are to be written by contestants and the prize (a miniature ship) awarded to the one giving the most correct answers.

Children will enjoy dissected turkey cutouts especially if a big turkey is to be the reward for putting the puzzle together the quickest.

For a tearing game give each player half a newspaper page. Then announce there is to be a wonderful exhibition of art and instruct each one to make a picture for the exhibit by tearing the paper into the shape of a turkey. Allow ten minutes for the contest and have two or three judges to award the prize.

Stunts are always enjoyable at a party. At the end of the refreshments pass small plates upon each of which is a cut-out, a turkey or any preferred design, on the back of which is written a stunt the holder is required to carry out.

Those for the girls may be: Imitate the strut, gobble and actions of a turkey. Dance the turkey trot with the man sitting nearest you. Pantomime the catching and killing of a turkey. Hum or play "Turkey in the Straw." Whistle the turkey trot. Give five reasons why you are thankful.

Here are a few for the men: Show how you would have proposed to Priscilla had you been John Alden. Imitate a Pilgrim mother putting her baby asleep. Give an Indian war dance. Describe the making of a plum pudding. Tell truthfully what you are thankful for. Give a two-minute Thanksgiving oration.

A Winter Wardrobe, Complete and Comfortable

The Suit, the Coat, the Shoes, for Street and Dressier Wear for All Occasions in Town or Country

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

BROWN MONOTONE TWEED WITH CARACUL COLLAR AND STITCHED TWEED HAT.

CHANEL'S STRIPED JERSEY BLOUSE WITH TWEED SKIRT

LAPIN COAT, THREE-QUARTER LENGTH, WORN WITH LAPIN HAT.

CANTON CREPE TUNIC FROCK WITH SHEER NET GILET, WORN WITH WHITE FELT HAT.

If you want a winter suit that will carry you through all day and many days, then you must give some thought to it. Oh, yes, it can be done and smartly, too. But how? Start with your coat—a full length top coat—and this I have planned in monotone tweed with its collar of long-haired fur if you have decided that to be the most becoming or a scarf collar of flat caracul if you are more intent upon doing the newer and the more recently smart thing.

When you are buying your coat, get enough material to make a skirt. Then you have the suit's foundation. In some shops you will find, they sell the ensemble this way with the skirt all ready-made to match the material of the coat.

Don't be afraid to have the material very rough, for that is by far the smartest. Avoid anything with the smoothness of surface shown by a broadcloth, for in that direction you will lose all the chic for which you are striving.

For the morning, for shopping, for country wear, have a blouse of Chanel striped jersey. For the afternoon, for semi-formal occasions, have a blouse of snail, and for bridge, or the matinee or if you are staying in town for the evening at a theater, have a dress of flat crepe to match the color of the suit and with which you can wear the topcoat as usual.

That is the outline. Now for the details.

Town Clothes Only

If you are concentrated a towny person and do not have to hop on the train for all your more formal social activities, then you can afford to indulge in black and white and in this very, same sort of ensemble. It is, after all, the smartest of all combinations this season.

Your coat of black will still be of the roughest, softest tweed, and its trimming will be either light colored, long haired or dark, flat fur chosen to suit your looks and your temperament for style.

For the early daytime occasions you will have the Chanel blouse done in red and yellow and you will have your little stitched black hat ornamented by a red and yellow feather.

Then for afternoon you will have your white satin blouse and either a black hat trimmed with white or a white hat trimmed with black. For your crepe dress then you will have a black one and this will be trimmed with white puffs at the sleeves and white gloves and would adopt the suede pumps in brown designed to go with the crepe dress.

This crepe dress preferably will match your coat and will be trimmed with white. Then you see how the gloves and hat come into the picture in a perfectly miraculous way, so that with a set and a half of accessories (for the same bag if wisely chosen will do for both arrangements) you have a costume that will carry you smartly through every occasion of an average winter day.

This same idea can be carried out in green—green coat, green skirt—a yellow jersey blouse this time, and a green hat of material to match the suit. Then a green crepe frock for the dressier occasions with the white touches as already suggested, and you are all set to face almost any emergency.

along the neckline, and your white gloves will carry out the contrasting idea. You could have a white tunic blouse with a black pleated skirt for the more dressy variety of frock, for this sort of thing always looks well with an all black coat.

You will have your pumps for afternoon and evening and your ties for daytime wear. You will wear black gloves in the morning hours, and altogether you will be able to achieve a really smart appearance with the black as well as with the colored interpretations of this ensemble idea.

New Bathroom Scales

A HIGH point has been reached in household technique for the bathroom. Just how or how much of the bathroom must be torn down to build up the improvement is difficult to determine, but it certainly can be done and nothing should be too much to keep ourselves up-to-date.

After all, usefulness combined with attractiveness are the things we should strive for in the home. The newest built-in bathroom scale can serve this twofold purpose. The only part of the scale that is visible is the dial (similar to the clock dial). The dials have individual designs and can bear the family emblem or the personal monogram of the owner. The dial is fast against the wall at an average eye level.

The rest of the mechanism for the scale is built in the wall and concealed in the floor, the top level with the floor. The dial is about ten inches in diameter. It is made of white gold with figures in black, and the filigree in the center and the pointer of yellow gold.

The Brush Must Be Good

A HOUSEWIFE enameled her bathtub. When dry she was amused to find numerous brush marks. She applied a second coat, but the objectionable marks were still in evidence. She asked the painter about it and she was considerably surprised to learn that enamel does not cover brush marks.

To avoid these the undercoat must be perfectly smooth and this can only be accomplished with a good brush. When she showed him the brush she used he told her never to use a cheap brush for painting because these brushes are coarse and have stiff bristles that leave brush marks.

If you want to do first class enameling use a good badger-hair brush even for the undercoat as this will enable you to lay on the desirable smooth coat and there will be no brush marks to mar your work.

Radiator Pans

DO YOU keep a little pan of water on each of your radiators? You should. Some radiators have these pans fitted in at the back, but if you haven't, there are very decorative dishes for the purpose to be had in the shops to help make necessity a virtue—white porcelain swans, for instance, or beautifully colored pottery peacocks with their tails outspread. Then, too, there are all sorts of attractive bowls with pond lilies afloat in them, the lilies made of some metal and painted naturally.

ANOTHER PROMINENT COLUMNIST

AL SMITH becomes a newspaper columnist, too, around the first of the year. We can't imagine what he's going to be like, but we're entitled to a guess.

An Al Smith column in the manner of Calvin Coolidge? No. One of the ingredients of a political campaign is boloney. All citizens recognize that fact. Our forefathers spelled it boloney. But change is necessary to material and spiritual progress, and most statesmen now pronounce it boloney. There is some justification for this.

Boloney (a boloney as it is called today) was originally an Italian city. It had a population of 210,859 in 1924. Under the wise management of Premier Mussolini, age forty-seven years his last birthday, Boloney produced an over-sized frankfort that was given the city's name.

It is successfully retailed in delicatessen stores, of which there are 731,588 in the United States and its insular possessions. At some of these delicatessen stores, citizens may also purchase gin. That, it seems, is the fundamental character of boloney. But it is still "boloney" to a large slice of the electorate.

An Al Smith column in the Arthur Brisbane manner? Good sound investments are now available to the wise investor, but don't gamble. In five years you can go by airplane in thirty-five minutes from New York to Los Angeles, but it'll still be using the trains.

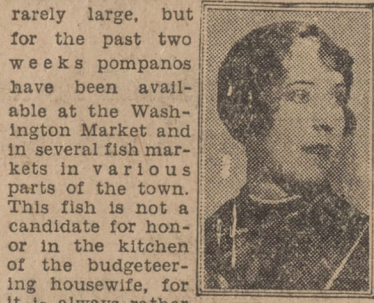

You can't keep big business down. Stop me if you've heard this before, but the government ordered the Standard Oil Company chopped up into smaller pieces and now look at the darn thing. Every one of the smaller pieces is now larger than the original hunk. This writer will probably bring up this item again.

More things I never knew before: Dry United States Senator couldn't swallow the man with the brown derby, but they'll do business with the man in the green hat. The Democratic National Committee is expecting a blessed event in 1932. Herbert (One Term) Hoover and Giv (Dry as Toast) Pinckot no like each other. Franklin (a-bany) Roosevelt and Tammany (Laugh It Off) Hall are likely to pluff before they are asked again. Jimmy (Flea-Plate) Walker got up at 8 A. M. other morning by mistake.

CA DISH CA DAY

When pompano, the aristocrat of Southern fish, appear in our markets there is general rejoicing among all who have lived in California or the West Indies where this is the accepted fish course par excellence. The supply in our markets is rarely large, but for the past two weeks pompanos have been available at the Washington Market and in several fish markets in various parts of the town.

KAREN HOLLIS

This fish is not a candidate for hot and most cooks, expensive, but there are many who feel that pompano is a bargain, no matter what the cost.

Cafe chefs favor cooking pompano by submerging it in court bouillon and simmering it gently for fifteen or twenty minutes, but as court bouillon is rare in the home kitchen, and extravagant, too, it is fortunate that pompano is just as delicious when cooked in a simpler way. It can be baked or broiled, and most cooks, backed up by the authority of government experiments, agree, cooking fish quickly in a hot oven is the best means of retaining flavor and food value. Ten minutes' baking in a very hot oven, 550 degrees, is sufficient for most fish.

Pompano baked in French dressing and plain is a delicacy highly esteemed, but connoisseurs insist that pompano is at its best only when served with a sauce that contains clams. Sometimes they simmer the pompano in clam broth and serve it with chopped sautéed clams, but a recipe that I like better is this one: POMPANO WITH CLAM SAUCE

Pompano should be short and very wide and have a small head. Have the head, tail and bones removed at the market. Wash and trim the fish thoroughly, wiping it inside and out with a cloth wrung out in cold water. Place in an oiled baking dish, dot with butter, sprinkle lightly with lemon juice and bake for ten minutes in a very hot oven. Remove to a hot platter and pour sauce around it.

CLAM SAUCE

8 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup clam broth
1 cup minced clams
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper (preferably freshly ground)
Melt the butter, add flour and mustard and blend thoroughly. Add the clam broth a little at a time, stirring until smooth. Let the sauce boil for a minute, then add clams. Heat thoroughly and add salt and pepper. The sauce should be heavily dotted with pepper.

COLORADO IN GRIP OF WINTER

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 19.—UP—Winter entrenched itself in the Rocky Mountain region and many sections of the Pacific northwest tonight.

A heavy blanket of snow covered the entire region, stranded scores of motorists and crippling airplane transportation. Temperatures dropped near zero in a few hours.

At least ten persons suffered serious injuries in automobile accidents caused by icy streets.

Drying Snow

Driving snowstorms continued unabated in many sections. The storm area extended into scattered portions of the southwest, striking so suddenly residents were unprepared for the wintry blasts.

Fifteen hunters were reported marooned at Spotted Bear station, high in the mountains, 60 miles from Kalispell, Mont. The road to Coran a 30-mile stretch, was reported blocked with snowdrifts three feet deep.

The report, received by the Kalispell chamber of commerce, indicated the party was in no immediate danger.

Drivers Stranded

More than 20 motorists were reported stranded on the mountain highways near Vernal, Utah. The huge drifts also made it impossible for mail trucks to pass.

A foot of snow blanketed Denver, causing traffic to move at a snail's pace. The storm began early yesterday and continued with increasing fury tonight.

Highways throughout the state were choked with snow.

Mail planes flying between Cheyenne, Wyo., and Salt Lake City were held at the former city because of the low flying ceiling.

New Mexico Hit

The storm struck some sections of New Mexico with blizzard-like fury. It laid a light blanket of snow over the Santa Fe territory, which usually experiences mild weather until the middle of winter.

The mercury at El Paso, Texas, tumbled to 33 degrees above zero.

Three to four inches of snow covered western Nebraska. Heavy rains fell in sections of western Kansas and snow was forecast as temperatures tumbled rapidly.

Annual Meeting Of C. C. Held Last Night

Panama canal. You are within a stone's throw of the great Mare Island navy yard. In the back country not far away are great gold mines. You face the world markets of tomorrow in China and Central and South America. Richmond is the industrial and shipping center of the richest county in the center of the greatest and wealthiest agricultural and industrial empire of the west. There is really nothing to prevent this from becoming a really large and really great city, because you possess not alone all the necessary natural advantages but have the type of citizenry to carry your ideals into action.

While I am not a member of this congress, I am a congressman-elect and I am going at once to Washington there to dedicate myself to your interests. My father had the interests of Richmond at heart and I shall be glad to continue his policies.

With Curry as guest of honor and speaker of the evening, the gathering was an enthusiastic one at which the achievements of the past year were reviewed and the group dedicated itself to a consistent program to bring greater prosperity to Richmond in the period just ahead.

Brooks Talks

A striking note was given by Joseph F. Brooks, plant superintendent of the Standard Oil, who declared that the local refinery had laid off no men and would lay off none because of the existing depression.

"It is my opinion," he said, "that any unemployment existing in this city is largely due to the large number of men who have come here in the hope of securing employment through the new Ford plant and have been disappointed for the present. Our plant sometimes employs as many as 1000 extra men in certain construction and when this is finished these extra workers are laid off. We finish our most recent new construction early this spring and this program was followed. As to our regular force, they have been retained and will be retained. I would say we have possibly 200 men at the plant who are being kept busy at various jobs but who are not vital to our present program. This is the Standard Oil's contribution to the present situation."

Bull Presided

E. B. Bull, vice president, acted as chairman, turning the meeting over to Thomas M. Carlson, city attorney and a director of the chamber, who was toastmaster. Mayor A. B. Hinkley brought greetings from the municipality. P. M. Sanford, president, rendered his annual report, giving a striking summary of the achievements which Richmond has to its credit this year.

W. W. Scott, chairman of the traffic committee, summed up the accomplishments of this group in securing new steamer services for the city and in bringing about rate adjustments which have now placed Richmond on a parity with the other cities around San Francisco bay and given it steamer connections to all parts of the United States and the principal ports of Europe. Scott gave credit for the success of the work to the traffic men who are on the committee.

G. A. Filice, president of the Filice and Perrelli cannery, reported that his company turned out nearly 20,000,000 cans of fruit this year, all bearing the name of Richmond, and said he is proud to add this to the advertising of Richmond.

City Lauded

"We thought, and we still think, that Richmond is the best possible location for a cannery," he declared. "Certainly, we could not have had finer cooperation between our company and the leaders of the community in the city council and the chamber of commerce."

E. E. Luther, head of the California Spray Chemical company, said his company had been operating at a high degree of efficiency this year and had shipped many hundreds of cars to all parts of the world during the period. He told of finding Richmond products in use in many European countries during his recent travels.

Frank Cole, division manager for the Santa Fe, complimented the chamber of commerce for its leadership in public affairs such as the attraction of new industries. He said his company will continue to exert itself to provide adequate shipping facilities for local products.

S. F. C. C.

J. T. Saunders, vice president of the Southern Pacific, said his company had extended a new line to the inner harbor, created the new $12,000,000 bridge at Martinez and otherwise given concrete expression to its faith in the future of Richmond and the region. He promised continued support to local industries.

C. A. Fleming, head of the industrial department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, brought greetings from that city and said San Francisco regards Richmond as an important unit in the great San Francisco bay area which is now cooperating for the development of all units in the nine counties.

Seven directors whose terms expire at the end of this year were nominated and elected to succeed themselves. They are: President Sanford, Fred Caudle, E. M. Downer, Henry A. Johnston, C. S. Renwick, T. E. Ward and Aubrey Wilson.

To Elect

Their names were placed in nomination by Carlson and seconded by Director Brooks, who moved that the nominations be closed. This was the unanimous verdict of the members.

Officers will be elected by the board of directors at an early meeting.

Entertainment was provided by Richmond's favorite vocal soloist, Mrs. Ross L. Calfee accompanied by Emil Esola and by the Dennis Shaw orchestra.

Arrangements for the dinner were in charge of a committee headed by Clark C. Kratzer assisted by Daniel Cox and Daniel W. Reardon.

Cotton Funeral Held Yesterday

John S. Cotton, pioneer of this city was laid at rest in Sunset View cemetery yesterday after services had been conducted from Wilson and Kratzer funeral home.

The Rev. A. A. Pratt conducted the funeral rites. Those who served as pallbearers were: S. H. Gnaga, A. N. Soleim, A. H. Poage, C. W. Reynolds, Frank Cox, and William Ellis.

County Doctors Name Officers

Dr. W. A. Rowell of Crockett was named to succeed Dr. J. W. Bumgarner as president of the Contra Costa County Medical association at the recent election of officers at a banquet in Hotel Carquinez.

Dr. Rosa Powell of Richmond was appointed vice-president, while Dr. L. H. Fraser of Richmond was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Dr. P. C. Campbell of Richmond was named as trustee for the three year term to succeed H. L. Carpenter.

Mrs. C. R. Blake of Richmond was elected president of the auxiliary also at the recent dinner. She succeeds Mrs. J. M. McCullough of Crockett, while Mrs. S. N. Weill of Rodeo was appointed first vice-president. Mrs. H. L. Carpenter of Richmond was elected second vice-president, and Mrs. F. W. Overdahl was chosen as secretary-treasurer.

The organizations laid plans at their recent dinner for the annual banquet to be held Dec. 6. The committee for the affair includes: Dr. C. O. Bishop, Dr. S. N. Weill, Dr. Clara Spalding, and Dr. J. E. Feldman.

An outline for welfare and public health work was formed during the meeting at the Hotel Carquinez.

Sheppard Says Dry Law Will Never Be Beaten

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 19.—UP—Prohibition will forever remain a part of the constitution of the United States, Senator Morris Sheppard, father of the Eighteenth amendment, told the annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union today.

"Believers in prohibition have every reason to rejoice in the fact that our national house of representatives remain overwhelmingly dry," he said. "Prohibition is standing on the constitution and will remain a part of it."

Senator Sheppard assailed wet propagandists and painted a picture of the physical, social and economic damages of alcoholism.

"The wet leaders have confused indulgence and alcohol so completely with true freedom that many of them think Patrick Henry should have said 'give me liquor or give me death.'"

If liquor had been legalized during the present period of restlessness and economic distress, he said, the imagination could not picture the social and moral chaos that would have ensued.

Branding the purchaser as guiltier than the maker, Senator Sheppard said the Volstead act needs a provision making the purchaser the recipient of the same punishment as the bootlegger.

KIWANIS HEAR SCHOOL HEAD TALK

Contra Costa county's 57 school boards would be centralized under one head if the plan of William Hanlon, county superintendent of schools were adopted.

That was the plan he advocated yesterday when he spoke to Richmond Kiwanis at their regular meeting. During the same talk Hanlon declared school expenses in this county had increased 155 percent during the past ten years.

Average cost of conducting schools throughout the entire state had increased 265 percent during the past ten years, Hanlon declared. One of the reasons given by Hanlon for the growth in school expense is due to the demands made in the school law which requires students to attend until they have reached the age of 16. Eight hundred percent is the increase in attendance in the state's high schools.

Al Good and George Miller led community singing. Both of these men were awarded the attendance prizes. Theodore Madsen, dean of boys at Richmond Union High school was chairman.

Industrial Richmond Tells Its Story!

On Wednesday evening of this week the industrial story of Richmond will be summed up for the year. On that date the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held, with the appropriate emphasis on this city's premier and growing position in industry.

Richmond has made great strides during the year just drawing to a close. Among other things the Filice and Perrelli cannery has completed its first season here, and the construction of the Ford Motor company's assembling plant has been started. Either of these two industries would be considered a great achievement by most Pacific coast cities. Taken together they constitute the greatest bit of industrial growth recorded by any western city during the past twelve months. They mean that Richmond has added approximately 3,000 persons to its industrial pay roll.

These outstanding high lights and many others will be on the program of the annual meeting. There will be reports from many industrial leaders as to their recent activities. P. M. Sanford, president of the Chamber, will sum up the Chamber's achievements in a brief talk.
